Cosmetic Tins Packaging and Shipping:

Cosmetic tins are typically shipped in corrugated boxes that are designed to protect the tins from damage. The boxes should be sized appropriately for the tins, and should be filled with cushioning material to keep them from rattling around during transit. The boxes should be sealed securely with packing tape.

If the tins are fragile, extra care should be taken to ensure they are not damaged during shipping. Bubble wrap or foam padding should be used, and the boxes should be labeled accordingly so that the carrier is aware of the contents.
